IN WHITE

College freshman Tamika Sherman, our cover model, is a woman who knows what she likes (romantic movies, good friends, lingerie, sports, Home Improvement star Tim Allen) and what she doesn't like (heavy drinkers, noisy bars). With her whole life ahead of her, she's not about to box herself into corners. Possible options for the future include sportscasting, modeling, acting or administrative work, and Tamika's not ruling out the possibility of doing them all.

What is so rare as a day in May or June, a day filled with rainbow colors and tantalizing scents. Brenda Hines (left), sheathed in silk chiffon, can be compared to a pedigree rose. Tracy Dali (above) redefines the meaning of special in a teddy with flouncy skirt. Lisa Canada (below) looks smooth in a waist cincher.

There is no sin here. The snake gladly gave up its skin for Lisa Canada (above). Lisa models a nifty Nineties fig leaf in black lace. Laurie Carr (right) wears razzle-dazzle intimate wear under a spring-into-summer dress.

Peggy McIntaggart (left), in a bra and panty that resemble puffs of smoke, fancies a Casablanca setting for her cool moves. Gena Ford (above) chills out in white satin. Raquel Bianca (below), in hot-damn pink, arouses our interest. Morgan Fox (overleaf) raises temperatures to record heights in a tropical setting and multihued bra.

The minimalist movement is alive and well and living in Lingerieland. Karen Foster (left) nips out of her knickers, enjoying the absence of encumbrances. G strings barely cover the subject of intrinsic intimate wear, but you'll hear no objection from insouciant Corrie Singer (above).

There's nothing remote about Lora Scott (above). Unless she's the center of the picture, spending a night in front of the tube is not an option. Soula Demetris (right) makes an impression with a brush and a thong.

Fickle May: One moment it's mild, and the next it's out of control. Lounging about in lovely lingerie, Cherie Lee (above), Keri-Anne (below) and Kristin Herold (right) are content to stay inside until everything settles down. In the meantime, lilacs are budding, and Petra Verkaik (overleaf) pays them tribute with a stretch teddy.

Water nymph Lorraine Olivia (left) snuggles into a double-faced terrycloth bathrobe. Gena Ford (below) and her lacy ensemble are adrift in a sea of dreams. Valorie Shae (bottom) is a treasure in lingerie borrowed from Davy Jones's locker. Brandi Downs (overleaf), a prize to tempt a pirate, is caught in uncompromising jet net.

Fashion dictates brilliant colors this season. Danielle Parker (above) begins with shocking-orange bra and panty. Protean pink appeals to Pamela Stein (right). Keri-Anne (far right) should change from her blue wrap to a gray flannel suit, but she can't let go of her reverie.

Without doubt, Kerri Kendall (left) has the sheerest bikini imaginable. Danielle Parker (above) resides in a sophisticated milieu of stark black and misty white, Dani Long (below) wears a minithong, minor bra and a major smile. Sultry and sassy are words that aptly apply to Raquel Cristal (overleaf) and her silken gown.

Here comes the sun, and lingerie-clad women are eager to be in it. Pamela Stein (above), Tonya Poole (below) and Melissa Evridge (right) are fair-weather fiends who love being outside, stripped of all nonessentials. Night must fall, however. Kimberly Johnson (overleaf), in a print bra, prepares for the bewitching hour.

Serious sunning gets started mid-May for Kayly Lynn (above) and Erika Eleniak (right). Kayly likes to begin her tan in Belize; Erika soaks it up in the city. Camping is a thrill for Reneé Tenison (overleaf), who set up her tent while attired in the bare suggestion of black lace.

Still in her dressing gown, Porchia Dallas (above left) may be thinking that there is nothing more soothing than a bubble bath. Thirsty terry is an after-shower treat for Fawna MacLaren (above right). Peggy McIntaggart (right), in bra and bikini, relaxes her hold on a light wrap.

Women are nothing if not adaptable. They're able to rest anywhere, as long as they can remove outer clothing and kick off their shoes. Terri Lynn Doss (left) does her sitting on a chair, and Victoria Williams (above) repose among pillows. We'll admit that perching on a piano is unusual, but it seems to work for Petra Verkaik (below).

Representing extremes in the lifetime spectrum are Laurie Wood (below) and Tamika Sherman (right). Laurie brushes hair spun of gold, getting ready for bed in a gown that brings to mind an earlier century. Tamika exhibits trendsetting styles in lingerie.

Conservationists and other right-thinking groups will approve the good taste of Gena Ford (left) and Mary Ann Kidwell (below). They both are wild about man-made leopard-patterned fabrics and naturally luxurious intimate apparel. Shelly Jones (overleaf) turns away from academic pursuits and turns into a study in moody blue satin.

In point and counterpoint, a duet of garter-belted beauties offer up a symphony of lyrical phrasing. From prelude to coda, Midi Miller (above) and Pamela Anderson (right) play on heartstrings. The tune may be romantic and sentimental, but don't change a note.

Most women are straightforward about their lingerie preferences. For instance, Mary Ann Kidwell (left) is not at all coy in selecting a demibra and thong. Lisa Canada (above) seems pleased with her panties, and Laura Joyner (below) is positively ecstatic about a peignoir that is decorated with tiny hand-embroidered bows.

Only the stoniest heart could withstand the warmth of Cynthia Kaye (left) in an intriguing display of bra and sarong. Keisha Case (above) warms a lot of cockles when she casts aside her passionately purple cami.

Athletic endeavors are best accomplished in cotton, as demonstrated by Patt DeLuke (above). Spanish stylings serve Beth Marrero (below) for both casual and formal events, but a black corset like Brianna Harvard's (right) is reserved for party wear. Michelle Dommergue (overleaf) has the ultimate ensemble for a romantic interlude.

The spirit of summer enters doors and windows with perfume-laden breezes. Terri Lynn Doss (left) reacts with abandon. Pamela Stein (above) seems tentative, but Cathy Dzik (below) is certain that even her lingerie has to be put aside before she can fully appreciate the lifting of doldrums. Ava Fabian (overleaf) is in agreement.

Corrie Singer (left) is caught in a pensive moment and a ruffled bikini. Simone Eden (below), in pale blue on posy pillows, delays the moment of truth before an action-packed ten-hour day. Lisa Carolyn (bottom) is comfortable with high-cut panties. Jill Terashita (overleaf) manages a heat wave in a well-ventilated teddy.
